INSTRUMENTAL SIGHT-READING INSTRUCTIONS AND REGULATIONS

Bands and orchestras are required to sight-read following their performance of prepared selections at the District Music Festival.

The Festival Manager shall prepare music packets with sufficient parts to accommodate the instrumentations of the bands and orchestras entered in the festival. These packets shall contain several selections in each of the following categories: Publishers Grade IV, III, II, & I. Schools with enrollments of 751 or more must read no less than Publishers Guide IV: 251 to 750 reads Grade III: 101 to 250 reads Grade II: 1 to 100 reads Grade I. Directors may opt to read higher grades but not lower. Exception: In schools with more than one band or orchestra, the training units may read literature appropriate to their ability level.

The Festival Manager shall provide the Sight-Reading Adjudication Form to the adjudicator. This form shall have been previously completed with the requested information at the top to give the adjudicator a profile of the group being adjudicated.

The Festival Manager shall provide a copy of this INSTRUCTIONS AND REGULATIONS form to all directors and sight reading adjudicators prior to the festival.

SIGHT-READING PROCEDURE

1. Sight-reading shall take place immediately after the adjudicated performance and verbal comments or mini clinic of the prepared selections. The festival manager may either arrange to have the sight-reading portion take place at the same site as the prepared performance or may move the group to a new location.
2. The adjudicator will distribute the sight-reading packets to the students with instructions to leave them closed until they receive further directions. He/she will then present the director with a copy of the score from the appropriate classification. The director now has two minutes to study the score silently before any communication about the music takes place with the students. During this time, the adjudicator should become familiar with the profile of the group from the information at the top of the adjudication form.
3. The adjudicator will now instruct the students to remove the selected title from the packet. The director and the students will now have three minutes to study and discuss the music. They may use this time as they wish except that neither the director nor the students may play, sing, clap, whistle, or use any other form of learning the music by rote. At the end of this three-minute period, the adjudicator will instruct the director to begin.
4. Following the sight-reading, the adjudicator shall make a few brief constructive comments to the group. These comments should highlight strengths and areas of weakness with suggestions for future improvement. The adjudicator will then instruct the students to return the selection to the packet and will give instructions for their orderly return to the adjudicator.
5. The director will be allowed a brief time to give final instructions to the students prior to departing the sight-reading area. During this time, the adjudicator will complete his written comments and assign the point values and the total to the adjudication form.
6. The Festival Manager will collect the adjudication form from the adjudicator and will check for mathematical errors. He/she will then translate the numerical rating to a Roman Numeral for a rating. The sight-reading rating is a totally separate rating and is not used to determine a festival rating for prepared selections.
